The Pocket Door - Features and Finishes

The premier Pocket Door is a revolutionary system that has a steel frame enclosing a serviceable track and doors; the door panels recess into the sides of the fireplace instead of swinging out allowing full access to the hearth when the doors are open. This convenient application is available in arched or rectangular with mesh, tempered glass or neoceram glass. There is a variety of design choices, textures and finishes to complete the look. The doors come in custom order sizes for masonry built/component fireplaces or are available with Ironhaus gas and wood burning fireplaces. The pocket door can only be used for new construction or remodels.

These doors are not only true handcrafted wrought iron creations but are applied in an unprecedented manner that is an extremely exciting conversation piece, as well as a safer more convenient fire door application for restricted access fireplaces.

Telescoping Pocket Door

The Telescoping Pocket Door is an elegant solution for smaller hearth applications. These handcrafted quality doors redefine convenience; they slide...collect...and hide to save space. These doors are handcrafted by artisans to maximize space and efficiency while providing an unparalleled fireplace experience.

The strap handles come standard on the hideaway Pocket Doors, except on the Fullview Style.

Texture and Color Finishes

This brochure is only an approximate guide to finishes available. All finishes are handcrafted, resulting in variations from one piece to another, as in all great artwork. To confirm your finish choice, contact Ironhaus or visit a local dealer.
