Walk in-closet closing, design Carlo Colombo, 2004

Close is a system of sliding doors on rails, specifically designed to close the units of Poliform walk-in closets. The rail can be installed matching the edge of the units or outside the units. It is possible to create compositions with one, two, three or four doors. The variety of available finishes for close sliding doors allows to interpret many furniture styles thanks to a wide range of aesthetically different proposals. From transparent glasses to mirrors and coloured glasses. The room can be defined according to different stylistic values.

Sliding doors for a new architecture of the spaces. Original solutions that offer new functionality to any storage need.
