vita dining table

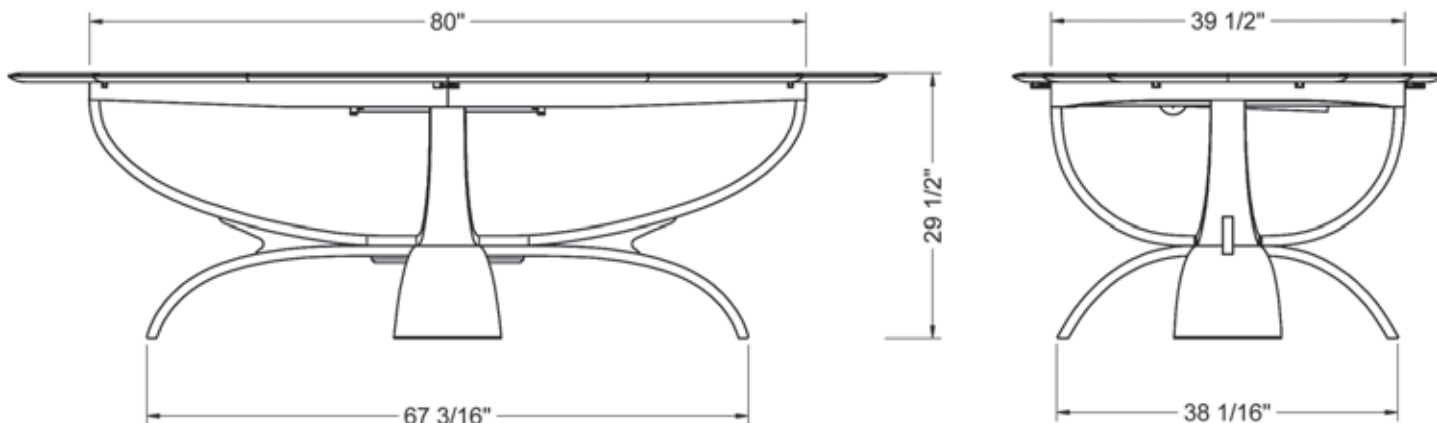

VDT · 30"H x 48"D x 98-118"L

With its top cantilevering over a vaulted base, this dining table defines minimalist design. The simple use of geometric form melds flat planes and sculpted air, proving again how hard it is to build simply enough to be good. An eight-foot-long cherry veneer tabletop (because the top literally “floats” above the base, solid wood, which expands and contracts, just wouldn’t do) sits atop a bent laminated base. Rack-and-pinion glides provide reciprocating movement of the top, revealing a hidden scissor-like leaf that stows effortlessly away within the table itself, making this one of our most flexible dining pieces.
