PLACE SOFA

INTRODUCTION

"If I see an object that has everything that it needs, this object seems to me to be more than the sum of its parts – it is complete in a way that classifies it as 'Super Normal'."
— Jasper Morrison

Take exceptional comfort, match it with a flexible configuration system, and you get the Place Sofa, designed and developed by Jasper Morrison and Vitra.

Jasper Morrison has been working with Vitra since 1989. The London-based designer was a leading figure in what became known as the 'New Simplicity' movement, an approach to design which reduced objects to their simplest forms and strongest features. Morrison's 'Super Normal' philosophy advocates the same beliefs, by featuring design in its purest form, without unnecessary decorative frills. In addition to furniture, Morrison has created lighting fixtures, home accessories, textiles and also a bus shelter for the Vitra Campus in Weil am Rhein, Germany.

Place Sofa is typical of Morrison's reductive style. In addition, it is thoughtfully designed with a modular construction system to allow it to adapt to the dimensions of most homes. This brochure will help you to decide which arrangement of the Place Sofa will fit both your form and your living space.

PLACE SOFA ITS MANY CHARACTERISTICS

Place Sofa is Jasper Morrison's new interpretation of a modern classic – a low lounge sofa with a decidedly horizontal feel. The generous padding, which is available in a soft or a hard version, gently rounded edges and a complex inner foam construction add up to an enduringly comfortable couch. Carefully crafted proportions give the sofa its aesthetic form.

FLEXIBLE FEATURES – The modular principle means Place Sofa can be personally defined and changed to adapt to you and your living space. The individual elements can be selected either with high or low armrests and assembled and extended as desired, allowing you to arrange them in a way that suits you. This is a new definition of relaxation from Vitra, one that combines comfort and quality with flexibility.
