LC1 is included in the design collection of the Museum of Modern Art.

The authenticity of each piece within the Masters Collection is verifiable by:

- The signature of the author which is engraved in the form of a trademark on each piece, thus certifying authenticity of the license granted by the heirs to Cassina.
 - The production number which places the item in chronology of production.
 - The identity card which also bears the production number and is attached to each piece.
- This card indicates that a final quality check has been carried out and assures that all license requirements have been followed.

The red arrow on the technical drawing indicates the position of the author's signature and the production number.
