

DESCRIPTION

Chat is sharing, interacting, talking...
Chat is public and private.
Chat is round, suggestive, bicolour...

Chat: a collective space, a place as a meeting point, a symbol of interaction among people. Chat is a collection of poufs and stools conceived as a complement for home-like environments, that enables the creation of common places in collective spaces. It is the most appropriate piece of furniture to create intimate areas in public environments.

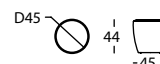

Chat, with its pleasant and easy geometry, merges with the rest of the architectural elements defining each space. The bicolour fabric combination facilitates adaptability to different ambiances. With this project, the Nadadora studio multiplies the options for different sensory, cheerful, colourist and serene spaces. Chat brings emotion to upholstered furniture.
