Bluff City 14-inch white/brass

Bluff City

Bluff City merges a traditional pendant shade and a wire-cage into an industrially inspired but refined pendant. Powder-coated metal encloses a bulb and a copper-plated socket. While this combination gives the light a vaguely postmodern feel that echoes the Memphis movement, the design is actually named after the American city, which is also known as Bluff City.

Designed by Jonah Takagi

Born in Tokyo and raised in New England, Jonah received a Bachelor of Fine Arts from the Rhode Island School of Design in 2002. For several years, Jonah designed furniture that he built in a friend's studio while playing bass guitar, touring and recording with several indie rock bands. Needing to develop and showcase a growing body of work that was filling his house but few had seen, Jonah founded Atelier Takagi in 2005.
