Look Beyond®

Introducing the newest patterned glass designs from AFG Glass: Glue Chip™, V-Groove™ and Glass Block™

While words like simulation, replica or imitation can have negative connotations, these new pattern glass concepts are getting more than their share of positive reviews. Compared to the value-added products they were designed from, these new textures provide the same high-end impact, without the high-end cost.

The three new designs are the result of years of development to virtually duplicate the impression of more expensive processed glass. New Glue Chip™, V-Groove™ and Glass Block™ are fully temperable and available in a variety of thicknesses and stock sizes. Each provides diffusion and textures that are perfect for partitions, side-lites, door-lites, transoms, balustrades, bathroom or basement windows, and shower enclosures.

Sometimes, imitations can be better than the "real thing"—especially when cost is considered!
