

Skyline Design Launches Eco-etch® Volume Program

Skyline Design shows environmental and cost-conscious leadership with the June 2013 launch of its Eco-etch® Volume Program for sustainable glass projects over 5,000-square-feet

CHICAGO, IL – July 23, 2013 – Skyline Design has expanded its selection of eco-etch glass designs to include low price point, high-volume, sustainable solutions. Designed to add beauty, privacy, and light transmission to large-scale interior spaces at market competitive costs, Skyline's new Eco-Etch Volume Program (EVP) focuses on projects of 5,000-square-feet or more and is available in all standard tempered safety glass thicknesses (¼", ½", and ¾").

Skyline's president Charlie Rizzo notes, "Investing in a natural glass solution allows offices to benefit from the optimal standard of high-design aesthetics and environmental consciousness without introducing any chemicals, toxins, or off-gassing from a PVC-based material to your space. Skyline's etched glass is 100% US-produced, 100% recyclable, and includes a 15-year product warranty."

The EVP product line surpasses off-the-shelf decorative vinyl film and imported glass in aesthetic standards, environmental sustainability, and cost comparison – pricing at up to 20 percent less than film solutions of a similar scale. And unlike its competitors, Skyline's natural glass solutions provide panel-to-panel consistency, true light readings, and sustainable permanence. This program also offers 12 single-sided designs, including a selection of Skyline's top-selling designer patterns and a gradient option. The selection's differing degrees of privacy make EVP ideal for the application of decorative exterior glass, as well as glazed and demountable walls for office spaces, conference rooms, and workstation up-mount screens.

Samples from EVP are on display in the Skyline Showroom at Chicago's Merchandise Mart (222 W. Merchandise Mart Plaza, Suite 1060 Chicago). To learn more about the collection, contact: Deborah Newmark, Creative Director at deborah.n@skydesign.com or 888.278.4600.

About Skyline Design
