KINC'S HAND-CARVED ART DECO MEDALLIONS
WIN DJM'S COVETED 2007 PLATINUM ADEX AWARD

Oak Park Illinois' historic Lake Street Theater is nationally recognized for the high quality of its renovation, attention to aesthetic detail, and preservation of architectural artifacts salvaged from "Golden Age" cinemas across the country. To answer the challenge of bringing modern pieces into this rarified atmosphere, noted architect and Theater Historian Joseph DuciBella turned to Chicago's award winning custom design and fabrication house, Kinc.

Drawing from vintage designs and employing modern techniques and materials, Kinc designed and delivered two hand carved, backlit 10' diameter bas-relief medallions, which now flank the sides of the main movie screen. Mirror images of each other, the "sister" medallions feature graceful female forms in an oval frame, softly backlit in blue neon and featuring a brushed aluminum treatment.

Kinc gratefully thanks Design Journal Magazine for recognizing the Lake Street Medallions with the largest and most prestigious award in the industry – the distinguished 2007 ADEX Platinum Award for Design Excellence in the category of Architectural Details.

Judged on their innovation, technological advancement, quality, aesthetics, and value Kinc's Lake Street Medallions were chosen from over 2,000 ADEX submissions, comprising more than 500 companies in categories including home, office, hospitality furnishings and building materials marketed to the design trade.
