PROFILE

Genevieve graduated from the Royal College of Art in 2000 where she studied mixed media and printed textiles. Since graduation, she has worked extensively as a freelance design consultant for leading homeware companies globally.

She established her bespoke leather business in 2008 and is based in London. She continually develops new processes and designs to offer innovative and beautiful products. Focussing on cutting edge techniques, Genevieve designs innovative products for the top end of the market. She believes in creating products, which are precious, distinctive and will last.

She is inspired by three-dimensional sculptural qualities, surface relief and striking pattern. Designs are initially hand sketched and draw on a vast range of archive material and influences from historic silks and the 17th Century wood carvings.

Her leather tiles are nominated for a British Design Award 2012, also for Interior Design Magazine Best Of Year Awards in 2011 and are regularly featured in the International press with recent features for Elle Decoration, Financial Times, House and Garden, Icon and Interior Design magazine
