

Playing with forms and appearances is what String Games is all about. This striking collection of meeting tables is distinguished by metal accents that appear to pass fluidly through the solid wood frame with expertly crafted precision. Available in veneer, laminate or solid surface materials, String Games can be specified in seated- and bar-heights and features optional power capability via a discreetly concealed wire management system—altogether making for an exceptionally versatile offering.

Tables can be specified without exterior metal accents on one or both sides for end-to-end applications, as well as with optional power units for greater functionality.
