

Company Summary

Full Description

Parasoleil has developed a unique line of architectural panels to filter and sculpt light that are not only engineered to withstand the elements but are profoundly artistic. It's something of a living architectural element that brings form to the ideals and impulses that shape experience. They can be used to create special relationships and to offer nuance to structural detail or provide visual relief. The interplay between light and dark can create dramatic effect or add subtlety to any design and environment. Lasercut and hand-finished to order, each Parasoleil panel is the work of talented designers who draw their inspiration from nature, history, culture, and modern forms. Size, contours, and borders can be adapted to meet the project's needs. Whether selecting from our standard collection or collaborating on a custom design, Parasoleil products enhance the functional aesthetics of any project. www.parasoleil.com

Short Description

Parasoleil designs and manufactures an exceptional line of laser-cut architectural metal panels with unique patterns that offer a profoundly artistic aesthetic to any space. Engineered to withstand the elements and manufactured in the United States, these decorative panels provide a functional and durable design that is warranted to last. Parasoleil's project guidance, proprietary hardware and installation system, production dependability, and beautiful powder coats ensure your project's vision comes to life in a memorable and lasting way. www.parasoleil.com

Company Videos

What It Is
Who We Are
How It's Done

Online design tool – Project Creator

Don't forget to check out our online Project Creator tool where you can design and purchase your project!

How to Use Project Creator