Drawing on their award winning and iconic Canadian ice warming huts, Patkau Architects has designed The Patkau Cocoon. Its organic form combined with the feeling of natural materials provides an almost poetic and sculptural presence. Each element is made of plywood. The interior is spartan: with a fixed seat and fitted with optional ecooustic panels to provide a quiet space for undisturbed work or conversation. The Patkau Cocoons are completely unexpected and are a welcome retreat, just what a modern workplace demands.
