

A close-up photograph of a carpet tile being lifted from a surface. The tile is dark grey with a textured, fibrous appearance. The underside of the tile is visible, showing a grid of adhesive dots. The background is a similar textured surface, possibly the carpet or a subfloor. A dark, rounded rectangular overlay is positioned in the center of the image, containing the word "ADHESIVES" in white, bold, uppercase letters. A thin white horizontal line is located below the text within the overlay.
