FIORANO WOODLAND

Nature seen not as a resource to be dominated and exploited, but as the first absolute value. Nature as a home, as a cosy nest, as the perfect synthesis of what makes us feel good. With the Woodland collection, the natural environment "invades" man-made spaces, enters our homes and becomes part of the way we sense and experience our surroundings, influencing our mood in a positive way. Floors, wall coverings and furniture become an emotional backdrop interwoven in a harmonious dialogue of nuances and veining, making it possible for us to rediscover that psycho-physical balance from which increasing urbanization and technology often distance us. In line with the latest trends in housing evolution, Woodland conceives of Nature not only as a model, but also as a true mentor and gauge of human endeavor, something from which to acquire knowledge and with which to give life to increasingly environmentally friendly designs.
