DYNAMIC

True's extensive offering goes beyond private offices to interactive open workstations. Much more than simple desking, True also offers partial and full modesty panels in a variety of finishes, full or transition end panels, and a number of choices for integrated storage. For those concerned with acoustic privacy True offers upholstered, tackable screens in seated- and standing-height sizes.

This freestanding system easily installs without the need for vertical walls or panels, and its modular, non-handed components easily support reconfiguration.

POWERFUL

True features a simple and efficient profile, but it houses a powerful 10-wire electrical distribution system. Leg support channels further manage cabling and allow it to enter the desk from base or ceiling infeeds. Specially designed stanchions provide power and data access at desk height while keeping cords hidden.

NOT SURE WHERE TO START?

Surface-mounted privacy screens seamlessly separate larger work areas.

A variety of fabrics, acrylics or other materials make a dramatic visual statement.

Desktop grommets provide quick access to wireways and power located below the surface.

A built-in trough discreetly manages power and data cables under the surfaces and from desk to desk.

Overhead-supporting stanchions provide an optional location for surface power and data.

Stanchion covers conceal power and data cables and are easily accessible when needed.

Power and data cleanly pass through leg grommets and efficiently meet at the beltline.
