Terrace®

Building Blocks for a Performance Workspace

What makes a workspace inspiring looks different for every office and worker. Terrace frame-and-tile panel system offers flexibility, scalable features, and refined design details. When paired with Allsteel storage, desks, and screens, it helps create a personal space that's both efficient and beautifully considered. It's a thoughtful foundation for people to do their best work—whatever that looks like to them.

Designed for Versatility

Office furniture must work harder than ever, which is why Terrace is agile enough to accommodate virtually every open-plan workstation need. With sturdy steel panel construction, Terrace stands up to years of use and reconfiguration.

Workstations

Terrace panels for support and power distribution are complemented by laminate gallery panels that offer a clean aesthetic for open-plan workstations.

Benching

Lower-height panels topped with frosted glass for additional privacy create a panel-bench solution that supports individual work and team collaboration.

Reception

Footed panels with an integrated transaction top and open and enclosed storage are the elements for dual-purpose personal and welcoming stations.

Make it Yours

Terrace offers a broad range of functional, ergonomic, and aesthetic options to support focused solo work or encourage open interaction. Personalize Terrace to meet a variety of needs with custom details including panel heights, height-adjustable worksurfaces, versatile storage, and accessories. Select from an expansive assortment of textiles and surface materials to complement your brand or style.

Extend the functionality of a Terrace spine wall by integrating a semi-private meeting area for team interaction.

Create Personalized Environments

With a clean aesthetic for benching, open collaborative spaces, and individual workstations, Terrace provides the platform for unique and functional designs that make a strong visual statement.

A panel bench is capped with storage towers that also provide visual privacy for workers in a more open workstation plan.
